

karanovic/partners

Open day

taste the atmosphere

We know that students have many questions about our practice and legal profession in general and that they often wonder “should I apply for Karanovic & Partners” / “do I really want to be a lawyer” / “what are the requirements”. We know that because we were all asking the same questions at the beginning of our careers.

Before applying we want you to be able to make an informed decision about your career choice. That’s why we think open days are important since you can personally meet a number of lawyers and trainees. You can rely on us to be completely honest about all the difficulties of our work, but we will also share with you our passion for this noble profession and tell you how much joy and satisfaction it can bring you.

Visit our website or follow us on Facebook or LinkedIn for the information on all events and opportunities.