Student workshops

discover the real world

Our team has more than a thousand years of cumulative experience. But we are not some ancient dinosaur. The team includes lawyers with careers spanning more than 25 years, as well as newly qualified ones fresh from bar exams. We all work together, and our differences are the best thing in this team work feeding our energy and innovative approach.

So we like to meet future lawyers, hear the new ideas and learn from them.

And we have not forgotten how difficult is to be at the very start of your career – head full of theoretical knowledge, with no idea what you would actually like to do in your life and what your next career move should be.

For all these reasons we love to work with students. We organize a number of workshops on different topics – where we turn legal theory into practice, talk about the reality of our profession and in general try to get you to know a bit more about what we do.

We organize a number of workshops at Law Schools every year – so visit our website or follow us on Facebook or LinkedIn for the information on all the events.
